

CALL FOR PAPERS

FIRST NOTICE

3rd European Conference on Curriculum Studies

Curriculum: Theory, Policy, Practice

16 - 17 June 2017

Hosted by the Stirling Network for Curriculum Studies
University of Stirling, Scotland

KEYNOTE SPEAKERS

The following keynote speakers will provide high quality and stimulating input:

Professor Lyn Yates

Redmond Barry Distinguished
Professor, University of Melbourne

Professor Nicholas Ng-A-Fook

University of Ottawa

The 3rd European Conference on Curriculum Studies

Hosted by the new Stirling Network for Curriculum Studies on the University of Stirling campus, the 3rd European Conference on Curriculum Studies aims to bring together international researchers from across the globe, representing all traditions of research and theorising in curriculum studies.

ABSTRACT THEMES

The conference committee welcomes both empirical and conceptual papers focusing on curriculum theory, policy and practice across the full range of educational institutions from early years to higher educational settings, and including non-formal educational contexts. Papers addressing the following themes are especially welcome:

- Curriculum policy and regulation
- Curriculum-making
- Curriculum and student voice
- Curriculum and community voices
- Curriculum and knowledge

The deadline for submission of abstracts is 12 December 2016. Abstracts should be submitted on this template and should not exceed 500 words.

IMPORTANT DATES

Registration opens: 15 August 2016
Abstract deadline: 12 December 2016
Notification of acceptance: 31 January 2017
Early bird registration deadline: 31 March 2017.

Follow the website below for further updates.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION PLEASE CONTACT:

Prof. Mark Priestley | ECCS@stir.ac.uk | <http://bit.ly/2bbZtYT>